Last Monday being Dominion Day it was observed as a holiday, but the town was very quiet owing to the previous Wednesday being a civic holiday and the great festivities last week. The only sport for the day was a cricket match former by six runs.

In our last issue we omitted to give the P.A. Band credit for the able assistance which it lent towards the festivities last week and more especially during the sports on the civic holiday. The boys deserve great praise for the rapid progress they have made during the past few months under the able management of their young leader, Mr. Robt. McKay.

BRAND ORDINANCE.

Although our legislators pride themselves on the useful and faultless Ordinances which they passed at the last session of the Legislature, there are a good many of those Ordinances which require amendment. We give the Legislature credit for having placed on our statute books many useful and valuable Ordinances, but we hold that several of them are anything but perfect. Of course it could hardly be expected that they should all be perfect. We fully appreciate the difficulties of legislating for a new country like ours. Different parts of the Territories have interests at variance from those of other portions, and the laws that would be found applicable to one district would not be suitable to another. One of the most important Ordinances passed by the Legislature is that respecting Brands. This Ordinance, in our opinion, requires amending. We consider that its provisions are not at all suitable, and that it is next to valueless to people in this District. The Ordinance provides that the Lieut. Governor may, whenever he thinks it desirable, set apart any portion of the Territories as a stock district, designating each district so set apart by a number, and that he shall appoint a sub-recorder of brands for all the stock districts, and shall designate the places at which their offices are to be kept. At present the office of the Recorder of Brands is at Fort MacLeod, and if moved from there, the probabilities are that it will be at Regina, which will certainly be more central. In order to get a brand registered the applicant must go to the sub-recorder with a drawing or copy of his brand; the sub-recorder forwards it to the recorder at MacLeod, where it is duly recorded if it in no way resembles a brand already recorded. If, however, it does, it is returned and must be altered. As there is no means for a person living in Prince Albert to ascertain what brands are on record at MacLeod, he may have to send several different brands before he hits on one that can be recorded. This, in our opinion, is the great objection to the Ordinance, and we think that there is a very simple way out of the difficulty. We would suggest that when a stock district is formed it should have a recorder of its own, having his office within the district, and that for the purposes of registration it should be entirely independent of other stock districts. Let each district be numbered; call the MacLeod district No. 1, the next No. 2, and Prince Albert—let us suppose—No. 3. Let the owner of a registered brand in any district be compelled to also brand his stock with the number of his stock district and the Governor might designate the place on the animal that such number should be put. Make the number of the district a Government brand. That would prevent the trouble that might arise if cattle or horses strayed from one district into another. We understand that the objection to having more than one office for the recording of brands was that the same brand might be used by persons residing in different districts, and that disputes might arise as to the ownership of stock straying or being moved from one district to another. We think that the plan suggested above, if acted on, will remove that objection. As the law stands at present, we in this portion of the Territories do not feel that we can avail ourselves of it. There are many large stock raisers in this district who are anxious, and have been so for a long time, to have the brand Ordinance put in force and a stock district erected. Last winter a petition was drawn up and largely signed, asking the Lieut. Governor to set apart a portion of this district as a stock district, but when it was found what the provisions of the Revised Ordinances were, no further action was taken in the matter and the petition was not forwarded. We trust that the suggestion we have thrown out will commend itself to the good sense of our legislators, and that at the next session of the Assembly they will have the law amended accordingly, or in some manner which will make it more serviceable than it is at present.

We are selling groceries cheaper than any other place in town. F. C. Baker.

At a meeting of the council of the S.R. A. on Tuesday last it was decided that a new team be chosen to shoot in the inter-association match to-morrow. A meeting of the council will be held to-morrow evening in the Town Hall to discuss the range question. On Saturday last the P. A. team shot against the other rifle associations in the Territories for a pool of five dollars each and won it with a score of 685 points. The scores of the other associations were: Edmonton, 590; Calgary, 582; Battleford, 560. Macleod, although entered, did not shoot, and we did not get the score from Lethbridge.

The Reception Banquet

TO HON. JOSEPH ROYAL

Lieutenant-Governor N. W. T.

On Wednesday evening, at 8.30, a complimentary dinner was given to his Honor the Lieut. Governor in McKay's Hall at the west end of the town, there not being any room of sufficient seating capacity nearer the centre. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, drapery and evergreens, with an appropriate motto at the top. There were about 125 of the leading citizens of the town and vicinity present, and many more would have attended but for the want of room; the sale of tickets had to be limited, and those who came late were unable to procure seats. The dinner was prepared by Mr. Oram, and it is needless to say was all that could be desired. His Worship Mayor Knowles presided in an able manner, and was assisted by Mr. C. Mair, who occupied the first chair, and Capt. Craig, who was in the second vice chair. The chairman had on his right the guest of the evening, and H. Mitchell, M.L.A.; Supt. Gagnon and J. F. Betts, M.L.A.; and on his left Hon. L. Clarke and Wm. Plaxton, M.L.A. The P.A.C. Band was in attendance, and contributed largely to the evening's enjoyments by contributing several selections in a remarkably fine style. After dinner, His Worship proposed the health of "The Queen," which was honored right loyally—as it ever is in Prince Albert—the band playing "God Save the Queen." The next toast was that of the "Prince of Wales and Royal Family." After this toast had been duly honored, Mr. J. L. Johnson sang, in a very fine manner, a song composed by Mr. Chas. Mair—our great Canadian bard. The health of "the Governor-General" was next proposed and responded to, when Mr. Clarke favored the audience with a song. Next came the toast of the evening, "Our Guest," which was received with great enthusiasm.

Mayor Knowles, in proposing this toast, said, it was his pleasing duty to now propose the toast of "Our guest." In looking at the assembly present, consisting of the representative men of the town and surrounding district, and as he partook of the sympathy which ran from heart to heart at that moment in cordial and sincere welcome to his Honor the Lieut. Governor, he could not refrain from looking back some 19 years ago in the history of Manitoba when the guest whom we honor this evening was first called to exercise that wisdom and intelligence which all know him to be possessed of in the halls of the local Legislature of Manitoba on behalf of his fellow pioneers, and to the fact that he at once became a prominent man in the early government of that province. The speaker then referred to his Honor's career down to 1888, and which he characterized as a triumphant one, because it was rare to find one who maintained for so long a time his position as a respected and esteemed representative of the people, more especially as during that time new blood, new customs and habits, and indeed a new generation arose. There were certain eras in the history of certain countries which deserved more particular enquiry and attention than the ordinary run of history. It was so with the Northwest in 1888, particularly in two respects; first in the creation of a Legislative Assembly, and second the appointment of one to fill the office of Lieut. Governor. In appointing one to fill that position it was necessary that the man selected should be possessed of a wisdom, discretion and intelligence of a high standard, who in directing legislation would do so in such a manner that the results for the good of the people would reach far into the years to come, and one who would always consider what is right, and do it at whatever cost; and also one who, by experience, has become acquainted with the wants and necessities of a new country like this Northwest. There was no man so preeminently qualified to fill such a position as he who is our esteemed guest this evening. We all know, since his Honor's occupancy of that office, he has surrounded it with dignity and honor. No man ever yet knew the world by description. It was so with the Northwest. And the visit of his Honor amongst us was a testimony of his desire to increase the knowledge of his country and his devotion to the best interests of the Northwest. He was possessed of great discernment and sagacity, strong reflections, and the outcome of his visit would no doubt be for the good of the place. It is very gratifying to have this opportunity of doing honor to whom honor is due. In his social and private life, we find in our esteemed guest a kind, courteous and affable gentleman. I ask you now to drink to the health of the Hon. Mr. Royal, our guest.

After the toast, which was drunk with Highland honors, had been duly honored and the cheering had subsided, Mr. Agnew sang in fine style "The Maple Leaf."

His Honor, on rising to respond, was loudly cheered. He said, Mr. Mayor and gentlemen, I must thank you before going further for the enthusiasm with which you have received the toast of my health, and for the truly loyal way in which you have received me on this occasion. I feel that I cannot properly convey to you by words my deep sense of the kindness manifested towards me by the people of Prince Albert. Reference has been made by the chairman to my political life. Well, I have been for a number of years in politics in Manitoba, and have always taken a great interest not only in the welfare and progress of that province, but also of these Territories. I do not know if I have been altogether as successful as I could wish, but my desire has always been to work only for the good of my adopted country. People always expect great things from a politician, and perhaps rightly so; and if he fails to come up to those expectations he does not always get due credit for what he has accomplished. But a politician has to put up with what he gets. In the responsible position that I now occupy I am called upon to fulfil great expectations, and I will endeavor earnestly and to the best of my ability to accomplish all the good that I can. I will endeavor to act with the people and for the people, come what may. My aim is, and will continue to be, to make wise legislation, and to bring about success and prosperity in our land. Reference has also been made to my private life—a reference of a most flattering kind. I am a human being like yourselves, and if I do not come up to a superlative degree of excellence, I hope that I will not be too severely judged by my fellow mortals. I will say, however, that I am very glad to be here to-night, for I feel that I am among kind friends and that I have the good wishes of you all. The great object of my present visit to your town and district is to get acquainted with the people. I wish to learn your condition and requirements and expectations. I wish to make myself familiar with the nature of the country from personal observation; to learn also its present state of development and its resources, so that I may be able to deal more intelligently with matters that may come before me affecting the district. There is an incredible amount of ignorance in eastern Canada about Saskatchewan; the people of those provinces know hardly anything about this wonderful district, and I must confess that I have had my eyes opened since coming here. Although I have been nearly nineteen years in Winnipeg, I have never before been in the Saskatchewan country, and in common with others had rather queer ideas of its latitude, and when I arrived on the Saskatchewan the other day I was almost surprised to find that I was not in the arctic circle. However, we have north of this great river immense tracks of magnificent country. There is north from Edmonton the Peace River valley waiting to be opened up and developed. It is said to be a good agricultural country, and has valuable mineral deposits, which will one day be a source of wealth to the Dominion. The great Athabasca District, also to the north of the Saskatchewan, is of great value to Canada; it contains untold wealth, and is destined to be an important part of this Dominion at no very distant day. The value of those districts and their hidden treasures, to Canada and to the Empire, is practically unknown and unappreciated in the West at present. The Government have lately been taking steps to place before the public a more correct and extended knowledge of the value of those portions of the Northwest Territories, and when their resources become generally known there will not be wanting enterprise to develop them. My present visit was urged by the Dominion Government, Sir John Macdonald told me to come and see the pioneers of the Saskatchewan. It is the wish of the Government at Ottawa to learn your wants and remedy your grievances, if any exist. Hence it is that I am here. For that reason I undertook this long and arduous journey, partly by rail, partly by stage, and from Edmonton floating down by boat over the golden waves of your noble river, and sticking on its golden sand bars. (Cheers.) I say golden waves and sand bars, because it is literally true. On my way down I visited Fort Saskatchewan, where twenty-five settlers each took a handful of gold out of his pocket and assured me that they had taken it out of the river at that point, and still they were wanting a railway. I hope they will get it before long. The prairies of Regina are considered well adapted for farming, but on the Saskatchewan you have as good farming land as is to be found anywhere. You want railways to open up the country, to bring in immigrants and capital, and if it were in my power to do so I would give you railways to-morrow. This country, I am sorry to say, is unknown in Europe, but once it is opened up and is possessed of railway facilities, the fame of it will go abroad and it will become rapidly settled. The Government have great opposition to face in building railways in this new country. It is not fully known, nor is its value to Canada appreciated by the people of the east, and consequently they vote against it. Your representative in the House of Commons has worked hard to secure a railway to Prince Albert, and I believe that in another year you will have the object of your desires. If I visit you next year I expect to come by rail. You must not expect, however, that a railway is going to make you all rich and independent, because competition will be as keen then as now. If there will be more to do there will be more people to do it and if more money there will be more looking for it. However a railway cannot fail to be of immense advantage to you and your district, and will in a short time, make it one of the most progressive Provinces in Canada. The Governor of the Northwest Territories occupies a different position from that of the Provinces. As you are aware in the older Provinces the affairs of state are managed by a Cabinet responsible to Parliament and to the people. In the Northwest I have no Cabinet to do the work. I have to do it myself and there is lots of it. My position is no sinecure. Under the existing circumstances I am allowed to select four members of the Legislature to advise me in matters of finance. I did not select my own Advisory Board however. I am a Canadian and Liberal in respect to the form of institutions and I saw that there were mixed elements and very divergent interests represented in the Assembly. I allowed the members of the Legislature to name those gentlemen who should be my advisors, and I am in every way satisfied with the selection they made. We are in a state of transition. We will not always be in the same position that we occupy to-day. Our next step will be one forward one in the direction of full responsible government. In the other provinces the ministers or advisors of the Lieut. Governor are paid for their services, but in the Territories they are expected to give their services for nothing. They are patriotic and do not want pay for their services. The Legislature has done good work already. It has passed a large amount of legislation with which, I think, no fault can be found and which, I trust, will be beneficial to the country. I must say that the people elected good men to represent them. I am not electioneering now, and am not speaking because I want you to re-elect your members by acclamation when their term expires, but I can assure you I have received very valuable assistance from all the members of this district and that they worked well in your interests at Regina. My visit to the District has given me a great insight into matters affecting it and it will be for the benefit of future legislation at Regina and for the benefit of the Government at Ottawa. You can rest assured that in the administration of affairs of the Territories your interests will be carefully guarded by me as far as comes within the scope of my duties. In conclusion Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I will again thank you sincerely for this kind reception and the hearty manner in which you drunk the toast of my health.

His Honor was vociferously cheered on resuming his seat and at intervals during the course of his speech.

Mayor Knowles then called upon the first vice-chairman, who in a few well remarks proposed "The Army and Navy and N. W. Mounted Police," which was responded to by Supt. Gagnon and T. J. Agnew, each of whom made a few remarks.

Mr. de la Gorgondie sang a French song which was well received.

Mr. Mair then proposed "The North-west Assembly," which was responded to by Messrs. Mitchell, Plaxton and Betts, M's L.A. in short speeches. Mr. Mitchell made a capital speech and was loudly cheered, and at the conclusion of his remarks sang "Le Marseillaise" in splendid style.

The next toast, that of the "Town Council," was responded to by his Worship the Mayor in a short speech. Councillors Woodman and Mair also replied in neat speeches. This was followed by a song from Mr. Johnson, as his singing is always good and always appreciated by a P.A. audience, comment is unnecessary.

The last toast from the vice-chair was that of the "Learned Professors," which was responded to by Rev. Dr. Jardine, Rev. Pere Domeneau, Dr. Bain and W. V. MacIsaac. We have not space to give even an outline of the different speeches; suffice it to say they were all good. Rev. Jardine and Dr. Bain made somewhat lengthy speeches which were much appreciated.

Capt. Craig, from the 2nd vice-chair, then proposed the "Commercial Interests of Prince Albert" coupled with the names of L. Clarke and John Stewart, each of whom replied briefly. "The Agricultural Interests" was proposed and responded to by Messrs. A. Spence and Thos. McKay.

Mr. C. Mair, F.R.C.S., responded to the next toast, that of "Saskatchewan, Past, Present and Future." This was next to that of His Honor, the speech of the evening, and we regret that want of space prevents us from publishing it in extenso. Mr. Mair dealt at considerable length with the early history of the Saskatchewan, from the time of its discovery up to the present time. He described its present condition in vivid language and closed by pointing out its future possibilities under a proper spirit of enterprise, and under conditions which did not now exist, but which we all hoped would exist in the near future.

"The Press" was next proposed and responded to by W. R. Gunn in a short but able speech.

"The Ladies" was responded to by L. J. Clarke in a very neat manner.

The health of Supt. Gagnon was drunk in a hearty manner, to which the gallant superintendent made an appropriate reply.

The singing of the national anthem with band accompaniment and three cheers for the Governor brought the festivities to a close.

Thursday was spent by His Honor in visiting the various public schools and other educational institutions in town. He was accompanied by Supt. and Madame Gagnon and were driven around by his Worship the Mayor. Mr. Betts and several other gentlemen accompanied the party. The first school visited was that in the east end, under the able tutorage of Mr. W. E. Bartlett. Here his Honor was received by the trustees and Rev. Canon Flett, Public School Inspector, and was presented with a beautifully engraved and engraved address of welcome which was read by Miss Deacon, one of the senior pupils, and to which a snitable reply was made. The Governor expressed himself as highly pleased with the school and drove over to the R. C. Separate School, also at that end of the town, where he spent a short time, after which the party drove to the Nisbet Academy where they were received by Rev. Dr. Jardine, Dr. Bain and others of the trustees. Dr. Bain read the following address:—

To the Hon. Joseph Royal, Lieutenant-Governor of the N. W. T.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOR,—

On behalf of the Trustees of the Nisbet Academy, I have great pleasure in extending to your Honor a hearty welcome on this your first visit to Prince Albert. And in extending to your Honor our cordial greetings and best wishes, we hope that you will listen patiently as we seek to indicate the character of the work for the performance of which the Academy has been established. The mission to the Cree Indians, which was founded by the Rev. James Nisbet in 1866, was the original centre around which the now flourishing settlement of Prince Albert gathered. People located themselves in this vicinity because they enjoyed here the advantages of both church and school, until now, from many parts of Canada and other lands, families have taken up the greater part of the available land immediately around this important centre. The advantages of being able to get for the younger generation a higher education than what is afforded by the Public Schools are so apparent that it is not a matter of surprise that efforts have been made here in that direction. The founders of the Nisbet Academy, in establishing this institution, have been actuated by the laudable desire of providing for the young people of this district a good general education, under Christian influence. No theological training is given within these walls, nor any instruction in scriptural knowledge which might not be given in connection with any Christian Church. As regards its religious instruction and influence over the pupils, the Nisbet Academy are entirely nonsectarian. It is the desire of the trustees of the Academy to provide an education by which young people of both sexes will be prepared for entering upon positions in commercial life, for becoming teachers in public schools of the district, or for passing the matriculation examinations of any of our Canadian Universities. The success which has already crowned their efforts is a sufficient evidence that an institution of the kind is required. There are now some of our pupils occupying positions as teachers in the schools of the neighborhood, some of them are assisting in the mercantile offices or stores of Prince Albert, and there are some who very soon will be able to enter upon a university course. The fact that in this new country the rural settlements must for many years be sparse will make it almost impossible to establish High Schools in the district, except at a centre like Prince Albert. And we regard it, therefore, as of great importance that this Academy, as doing High School work, should be maintained in a state of efficiency. As soon as practicable, we hope to add a boarding department to the institution, so that parents at a distance may feel safe in placing their sons or daughters under our care. And while it is impossible for us to forecast the future with any degree of accuracy, we may be permitted to express a hope that when the District of Saskatchewan becomes erected into a province, an efficient Provincial University will be one of our educational appliances, and the institution to which we this day welcome your Honor will be one of its affiliated colleges. It may, perhaps, be premature for us to express such a hope as this; but we are certain that no institution is likely to prosper unless its friends are hopeful of its future, and we wish to give to the Academy all the advantage which bright hopes and good wishes can bestow. We have great pleasure in expressing our gratification at your Honor's presence upon this occasion, and our best wishes for your future welfare.

H. U. BAIN,
Chairman Trustees.

To which his Honor made a brief and suitable verbal reply, and intimated that as soon as time would permit he would reply in writing. After that part of the programme had been gone through, the scholars were put through a short examination in the various subjects constituting the course of study in the Academy and made a very creditable showing, with which his Honor expressed his satisfaction, and drove thence to the Central Public School, where he was met by Mr. Still, the head teacher, and the Rev. Canon Flett. Here his Honor was presented with the inevitable address, which was read by Master Arthur Way. His Honor made a short speech in reply, in the course of which he took occasion to compliment Prince Albert on the excellence of its educational institutions, and spoke words of encouragement and praise to the children. The National Anthem was well rendered by the children, and the distinguished visitor took his departure, expressing himself highly pleased with his visit to the schools. In the afternoon of the same day he visited St. Ann's Convent, where a splendid reception was given him by the ladies of the Convent. A magnificently illuminated address was presented to his Honor by the Convent, to which an appropriate reply was made, after which a splendid programme, prepared for the occasion, was performed by the young ladies attending the Convent. The programme was of a high standard of excellence, and was very much appreciated by the Governor and party, a full account of which we will give in another issue.

THE CITIZENS' BALL.

On Thursday evening a grand ball was given by the citizens in honor of the Lieut. Governor. The Hon. L. Clarke kindly placed at the disposal of the committee, for the occasion, one of the large warehouses at the H. B. Co's post. The entire inside of the building was covered with drapery of different and well blended colors, which gave a most attractive appearance to the hall. The supper, which was provided by the ladies and comprised all the delicacies of the season, was served in the lower flat of the same building. There were over one hundred couples present, including the elite of the town and many from the country. All the arrangements for the ball were perfect and were made by a committee of young men of the town. To Mr. Cann is due great credit for the successful management of the affair. His Honor and party arrived at 8.30 and were given seats on a raised dais at the upper end of the ball room. Immediately after the arrival of the Governor, dancing commenced. The opening quadrille was danced by His Honor the Lieut. Governor and Mrs. Knowles, His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Betts, J. F. Betts and Mrs. Perry, Hon. L. Clarke and Madame Gagnon. His Honor left the ball room at midnight and dancing was kept up until an early hour in the morning. The ladies were very beautifully dressed. This was one of the most brilliant affairs of the kind ever held in the Northwest.
